Description of the Business

The Company provides platform as a service for payroll processes (the "Platform") which is marketed to professionals currently providing or seeking to provide payroll services to US-based employers. Using a monthly subscription model, the Company equips its customers with the tools needed to manage the entire payroll process from start to finish. The monthly subscription fee for payroll professionals is comprised of a base minimum fee per active employer on the Platform with an additional variable fee per employee, per employer. The more employers a professional enrolls into the Platform, both the minimum base and per employee fees are discounted. The Platform is enabled to be "white labeled" at the discretion of subscribers. Affiliate and referral programs are available to supercharge the business model.

Business Plan

The Company is committed to bringing the best user experience to its customers through its innovative Platform. The Company's business strategy leverages its unique ability to design and develop its own Platform to provide its customers products and solutions with innovative design, superior ease-of-use and seamless integration. As part of its strategy, the Company continues to expand its Platform for the discovery and delivery of third-party digital content and applications. We believe continual investment in research and development (R&D), marketing and advertising is critical to the development and sale of our Platform. We utilize our marketing and online presence to win with consumers at the 'zero moment of truth' - when they are searching for information about a brand or product. We work collaboratively with our customers to improve the presence of our Platform and win the ‘first moment of truth’ - when a consumer is shopping for a payroll system. We must also win the ‘second moment of truth’ - when a consumer uses the Platform, evaluates how well it met its expectations and decides whether it was a good value. We believe we must continue to update and innovate our Platform in order to grow our business. Research and development activities, designed to enable sustained organic growth, carry a high priority. While many of the benefits from these efforts will not be realized until future years, we believe these activities demonstrate our commitment to future growth.

Products and Services

Product / Service	Description	Current Market
Payroll Processing	The Company’s primary focus is the processing of employer payroll across the United States. The design and implementation of the Platform provides its subscribing payroll partners with tools and feature sets allowing flexibility and scaling opportunities.	The Primary Addressable Market consists of approximately 312,000 accounting industry professionals who target the roughly 8 million small business employers across the United States.
Pay-as-You-Go Worker’s Compensation Insurance	Through the Company’s partnership with Next Insurance, the Platform can connect employers with a worker’s compensation insurance broker to place low to medium risk policies across all United States.	The market consists of all employers onboarded by subscribers.
RPA Migration Tooling	Through the use of automated bots, the Company is equipped to access an employer’s previous payroll platform for the purpose of downloading employer setup records as well as historical paycheck and tax transactions.	This market is both primary and secondary users of the platform. The secondary market exists because most customers will transfer from a competitive product with existing history and setup information.
Benefits Integrations	The connecting of third party vendors enables the Company to offer a marketplace of ancillary services.	This market will vary across the platform as subscribers target different industries and employer sizes. These offerings will mostly target employers with large employee counts as various State requirements will create legal obligations for employers to offer benefits.

We are constantly researching and developing new tools & features for the platform, which we think might appeal to our payroll partners and their employer/employee customers. We currently have several features, such as job costing, on the 2023 development roadmap.

We offer the Platform via our online website at: <https://wholesalepayroll.com>.

Competition

The Company’s primary competitors are ADP, Intuit, PayChex, Namely, Paycom, Paycor, Gusto, Paylocity, and Patriot Software. However, there are dozens of additional competitors and the Company expects more entrants into this market in the future.

Of all these listed competitors, the Company currently believes that it is the only fully white-labeled, wholesale software that does not compete directly with professional subscribers. The current and planned features compliment the subscriber’s skill set while all the competitive platforms hog-tie professionals with protracted support channels caused by intentionally designed system of dependency limitations.

Supply Chain and Customer Base

To offer our Platform, we license a portion of our programming from independent sources. We attempt to secure long-term programming agreements with our providers. We also license individual programs or packages of programs from programming suppliers.

The Company is dependent on the following suppliers:

Supplier or Description	Service, input or raw material provided	Percent of such service, input or raw material from such supplier
Symmetry Software	Identification of location based employer tax obligation with update to date tax computations of same.	100%
Asure PTM	Submission of both tax payments and forms to appropriate taxing authorities at federal, state and local levels.	100%
Cogent Bank	Banking and NACHA file transmissions	100%
Amazon Web Services (AWS)	The tech stack of servers and database storage	100%
Eclipses	Quantum computing FIPS 140-3 compliant security	100%
UIPath	Systematic automation routines, aka bots, for management processes	100%

The Company's primary customers are accounting professionals offering payroll services to small and medium sized business located in the United States.

Intellectual Property - Licenses

Licensor	Licensee	Description of Rights Granted
Symmetry	Wholesale Payroll, LLC	Symmetry granted a non-exclusive license to the Company for the use of various services on the Platform, including the right to use the Symmetry Tax Engine (STE) and Symmetry Payroll Forms (SPF) on the Platform.
Asure Professional Tax Management	Wholesale Payroll, LLC	Subject to the terms and conditions of the license agreement, Asure granted the Company a non-exclusive license to access and use the FlexTax® Software on the Platform.
Eclipses	Wholesale Payroll, LLC	Eclipses granted the Company a non-exclusive license to use and access its OEM/Integrator and other associated security software on the Platform.

Governmental/Regulatory Approval and Compliance

The Company registered with FinCen as a Money Service Business (MSB) on January 13, 2023. In addition to this registration, the Company will need to obtain money transmission licenses in all 50 states in order to accomplish its stated goals in its current business plan. The Company has not yet received any money transmission licenses. It is expensive and time consuming to apply for and obtain money transmission licenses and there are no assurances that the applicable state regulatory bodies will grant such licenses.

The Company is subject to and affected by laws and regulations of U.S. federal, state and local governmental authorities. These laws and regulations are subject to change. Additionally, the US Treasury Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN) regulates money service businesses which affect the Platform's offerings.

Litigation

The Company is currently unaware of any litigation or threatened claims against the Company.

Other

The Company conducts, or will conduct, business in all 50 States.

Because this Form C focuses primarily on information concerning the Company rather than the industry in which the Company operates, potential Investors may wish to conduct their own separate investigation of the Company's industry to obtain greater insight in assessing the Company's prospects.

Employees

The Company currently has a total of 9 employees located in Florida and Iowa, all of which are employees at-will. The Company has a non-disclosure agreement in place with each of its employees.

Dividends

The Securities do not entitle the Investors to any dividends.

Conversion

Equity Financing

If there is an Equity Financing before the termination of the Securities, on the initial closing of such Equity Financing, the Securities will automatically convert into the number of Class C Shares equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the SAFE Price. The “SAFE Price” means the price per share equal to the Post-Money Valuation Cap divided by the Company Capitalization.

Liquidity Event

If there is a Liquidity Event (a Change of Control, a Direct Listing or an Initial Public Offering) before the termination of the Securities, the Securities will automatically be entitled (subject to the liquidation priority) to receive a portion of Proceeds equal to the greater of (i) the Purchase Amount or (ii) the amount payable on the number of shares of Common Shares equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the Liquidity Price (the “Cash-Out Amount”). In a Liquidity Event, the Investor’s right to receive the above described amount is junior to payment of outstanding indebtedness and creditor claims and is on par with payments for Common Shares and other Securities who are receiving Proceeds on a similar basis. Accordingly, there is no guarantee that upon the occurrence of a Liquidity Event that Investor will receive the Cash-Out Amount or a return of the initial Purchase Amount.

Dissolution Event

If there is a Dissolution Event before the termination of the Securities, the Investor will automatically be entitled (subject to the liquidation priority) to receive the Cash-Out Amount. Company Cancellation (Redemption) Right

The Company shall have the right to cancel the Securities by delivering written notice to Investor of its election of its option to exercise its cancellation right (the “SAFE Cancellation Event”). If there is a SAFE Cancellation Event before the termination of the Securities, the Securities will automatically be entitled to receive a payment from the Company in an amount equal to the two times (2x) the Purchase Amount.

Termination

The Securities will automatically terminate (without relieving the Company of any obligations arising from a prior breach of or non-compliance with the Securities) immediately following the earliest to occur of: (i) the issuance of Shares to the Investor pursuant to the automatic conversion of the Securities or (ii) the payment, or setting aside for payment, of amounts due the Investor.

Voting and Control

The Securities have no voting rights at present or when converted. Other than the Operating Agreement, the Company does not have any voting agreements or any shareholder/equity holder agreements in place.

Anti-Dilution Rights

Valuation

No valuation or appraisal of the Company's potential business has been prepared.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Please see the financial information listed on the cover page of this Form C and attached hereto in addition to the following information. Financial statements are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Operations

The Company has been exclusively funded through its members. The Company conducted a soft launch of the Platform in January 2023 and has, as of the date of this Form C, 37 subscribers ready to onboard. The Company's biggest current operational challenge is the need to further build out its "DevOps" team.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Offering proceeds are important to our operations. While not dependent on the Offering proceeds, the influx of capital will assist in the achievement of our next milestones and expedite the realization of our business plan, specifically obtaining our registrations and licenses, marketing our Platform, research and development, and general working capital. Because we have already allocated the proceeds to a specific use dependent on the completion of this Offering, the proceeds will not have a material effect on our liquidity.

The Company has the following sources of capital in addition to the proceeds from the Offering: the Company is reliant on its current members to continue to provide the capital necessary to continue operations until profitability is reached.

Capital Expenditures and Other Obligations

The Company does not intend to make any material capital expenditures in the foreseeable future.

Trends and Uncertainties

After reviewing the above discussion of the steps the Company intends to take, potential Investors should consider whether achievement of each step within the estimated time frame is realistic in their judgment. Potential Investors should also assess the consequences to the Company of any delays in taking these steps and whether the Company will need additional financing to accomplish them.

The financial statements are an important part of this Form C and should be reviewed in their entirety. The financial statements of the Company are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

To date, we have not generated revenue, and currently rely on external financing.

We are a startup company and our business model has historically focused on product development rather than generating revenue. While we intend to generate revenue in the near future, we cannot assure you when or if we will be able to do so. We rely on external financing to fund our operations. We anticipate, based on our current proposed plans and assumptions relating to our operations (including the timetable of, and costs associated with, new product development) that, if the minimum amount is raised in this Offering, it will be sufficient to satisfy our contemplated cash requirements, assuming that we do not accelerate the development of other opportunities available to us, engage in an extraordinary transaction or otherwise face unexpected events, costs or contingencies, any of which could affect our cash requirements.

We expect capital outlays and operating expenditures to increase over the next several years as we expand our infrastructure, commercial operations, development activities and establish offices.

Our future funding requirements will depend on many factors, including but not limited to the following:

- * The cost of expanding our operations;
- * The financial terms and timing of any collaborations, licensing or other arrangements into which we may enter;
- * The rate of progress and cost of development activities;
- * The need to respond to technological changes and increased competition;
- * The costs of filing, prosecuting, defending and enforcing any patent claims and other intellectual property rights;
- * The cost and delays in product development that may result from changes in regulatory requirements applicable to our products;
- * Sales and marketing efforts to bring these new product candidates to market;
- * Unforeseen difficulties in establishing and maintaining an effective sales and distribution network; and
- * Lack of demand for and market acceptance of our products and technologies.

We may have difficulty obtaining additional funding and we cannot assure you that additional capital will be available to us when needed, if at all, or if available, will be obtained on terms acceptable to us. If we raise additional funds by issuing debt securities, such debt instruments may provide for rights, preferences or privileges senior to the Securities. In addition, the terms of the debt securities, if issued, could impose significant restrictions on our operations. If we raise additional funds through collaborations and licensing arrangements, we might be required to relinquish significant rights to our technologies or product candidates, or grant licenses on terms that are not favorable to us. If adequate funds are not available, we may have to delay, scale back, or eliminate some of our operations or our research development and commercialization activities. Under these circumstances, if the Company is unable to acquire additional capital or is required to raise it on terms that are less satisfactory than desired, it may have a material adverse effect on its financial condition.

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We were organized as a limited liability company under the laws of Florida on July 15, 2021. Accordingly, we have limited history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with a new enterprise. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. We anticipate that our operating expenses will increase for the near future. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

No Guaranteed Cash Flow, Profit or Distribution.

The Company's business operations involve a high degree of risk and there can be no assurance that cash flow or profits will be generated by the Company. Any return on investment to the Investors will depend on the successful operation of the Company and the success of its business plans. The expenses of the Company may exceed its income and the Investors could lose the entire amount of their capital invested. The Company is not obligated to provide the Investors with a guarantee against a loss on their investment or against negative cash flows and the Company has not and does not intend to provide such guarantees. There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment.

Reliance on Management Team and the Board.

Our success is highly dependent upon the financial and managerial expertise, ability, and judgment of our management team. The management team will not be under a contractual obligation to remain with us for all or any portion of the life of the Company. Our ability to carry on our activities successfully will be dependent on the skill and experience of the management team. Since you will have no voting right, you will have to fully rely on the executive team to make the decisions on your behalf.

All decisions regarding day to day management of the Company's affairs will be made by the Board of Managers (the "Board") and not by any of the Investors. The Investors will not have any direct involvement in the management of the Company or its business operation and will be subject to the ultimate direction and control of the Board. Accordingly, you should not purchase the Securities unless you are willing to entrust all aspects of management of the Company to the Board. You should carefully evaluate the personal experience and business performance of the Board and the structure of the management of the Company.

We are dependent upon the efforts, financial and managerial experience and expertise, contacts and skills of our Board, which is comprised of three individuals: Albert Wagner, Jessica Clarke, and James Murray (each, a “Manager”). These individuals have been primarily responsible for determining the strategic direction of our business and for executing our growth strategy and are integral to our brand and culture and the positive business reputation we enjoy with our customers and vendors. The loss of any of these individuals would have a material adverse effect on the performance of the Company. None of the Managers will be under any contractual obligation to remain with the Company or provide services to the Company for all or any portion of the duration of the Company.

Limited Transferability.

To purchase the Securities, prospective investors must make certain representations to the Company, including, without limitation, that (i) they are acquiring the Securities for investment and not with a view to distribution or resale, (ii) they understand the Securities are not freely transferable, and (iii) that they must bear the economic risk of investment in the Securities for an indefinite period of time because the Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or applicable state “Blue Sky” or securities laws. They should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the WP CF Units of SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity). Because the WP CF Units of SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the WP CF Units of SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the WP CF Units of SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the WP CF Units of SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) in a private sale. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Illiquidity of the Securities.

An investment in the Company requires a long-term commitment, with no certainty of return. The Securities are highly illiquid, have no public market and are generally not transferrable except with the prior consent of the Board. Each Investor will be required to represent that such investor is acquiring the Securities for investment and not with a view to distribution or resale, that such Investor understands the Securities are not freely transferable and, in any event, that such investor must bear the economic risk of investment for an indefinite period of time. The Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or applicable state “Blue Sky” or securities laws, and the Securities cannot be sold unless they are subsequently registered or an exemption from such registration is available. Investors cannot expect to be able to liquidate their investment in case of an emergency. While the Company may generate current income, the return of capital and the realization of gains, there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to realize any gains in a timely manner.

Unregistered Offering.

The offering of the Securities will not be registered with the SEC under the Securities Act or with the securities agency of any state. The Securities are being offered in reliance on exemptions from the registration provisions of the Securities Act and state securities laws applicable to offers and sales to investors meeting the investor suitability requirements set forth herein.

Lack of Regulatory Review.

Since the offering of the Securities is a nonpublic offering and, as such, is not registered under federal or state securities laws, prospective investors do not have the benefit of review of these disclosures by the SEC or any state securities commission. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. The terms and conditions of the Offering may not comply with the guidelines and regulations established for investment programs that are required to be registered and qualified with those agencies. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

Projections.

Any financial projections included in or referred to in these disclosures or which have been made available for review are forward-looking statements that involve significant risk and uncertainty. Such financial projections have been prepared by management and are based upon current estimates of future performance. The assumptions underlying the forecasts are subject to significant economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies that are beyond the control of the Company. The projections and forecasts and the underlying assumptions may prove to be materially inaccurate, and actual results may materially differ, either negatively or positively, from the projected results. The Company anticipates differences between the projected and actual results because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and those differences may be material. Accordingly, prospective investors must not place undue reliance on the projections and forecasts. All materials or documents supplied by the Company, including any projections, should be considered speculative and are qualified in their entirety by the assumptions, information and risks disclosed in these disclosures. These financial projects also are not based upon and do not take into consideration in any manner whatsoever the effects of current or future federal income tax laws on the Company or the members thereof.

Need for Additional Financing.

Although the Company currently believes that the proceeds from the Offering (assuming that the maximum offering amount is achieved), will provide the Company with the capital needed to fund the costs of its growth and product development plans, there is no assurance that the Company will be able to raise the maximum offering amount. Moreover, even in the Company does raise the maximum offering amount, there is no assurance that such amounts will be sufficient to fully fund the costs of its growth and product development plans. In such event, the Board may elect to seek additional financing on such terms as deemed appropriate by the Board which may vary materially from the terms of this Offering. Any issuance of equity may have a material adverse impact on the economic and other rights of the members and may materially dilute the ownership interest of all members. There is no assurance that such dilution, if any, will be adequately compensated by the additional capital contributed to the Company.

Failure of the Securities to Convert.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities does not have any default provisions upon which the Investors will be able to demand repayment of their investment. The Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and Investors have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may the Investors demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

Company Cancellation Right.

The Company maintains the right to cancel the Securities from the Investor at its discretion in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Securities. Thus, an Investor should be prepared for their Securities to be cancelled by the Company at any time.

Lack of Diversification.

The Company was formed to develop, market and distribute a platform as a service for payroll processes marketed to US-based employers seeking to provide payroll services (the “Business”) and does not currently anticipate engaging in any other businesses. Thus, the success of the Company depends entirely upon the success and operations of the Business. The Company will not have the benefit of reducing risk by diversifying itself among a portfolio of investments, properties or otherwise.

No Assurance of Confidentiality.

As part of the investment process and otherwise in their capacity as potential members, Investors will provide significant amounts of information about themselves to the Board and the Company. Under applicable laws, such information may be made available to other members, third parties that have dealings with the Company, and governmental authorities (including by means of securities law-required information statements that are open to public inspection). Investors that are highly sensitive to such issues should consider taking steps to mitigate the impact upon them of such disclosures. The Company will nonetheless endeavor to take all reasonable steps under the law and within its obligations described herein to maintain confidentiality.

Loss on Termination.

In the event of termination of the Company as provided in the Operating Agreement, the proceeds realized from the liquidation of the Company’s assets will be distributed among the Investors and members as described therein, but only after the satisfaction of the claims of third-party creditors of the Company. The ability of an Investor to recover all or any portion of such Investor’s investment under such circumstances will, accordingly, depend on the amount of net proceeds realized from the liquidation and the amount of claims to be satisfied therefrom. There can be no assurance that the Company will recognize any gains or realize net proceeds on liquidation.

Controlling Documents.

Portions of these disclosures describe specific terms and conditions of the Operating Agreement, the Securities, and certain other documents. The actual terms and conditions of these documents may vary from those described in these disclosures. Moreover, the Operating Agreement and the Securities contain highly detailed terms and conditions, many of which are not described fully or at all in these disclosures. In all cases, the actual terms and conditions set forth in the Operating Agreement, the Securities, or any other document referenced herein will supersede these disclosures and should be reviewed by Investors.

Reliance on Personal Legal Counsel.

Documents relating to the Company, including the Securities to be completed by each Investor, as well as the Operating Agreement, will be detailed and technical in nature. The Company’s legal counsel will solely represent the Company's interests and will not represent the interests of any Investor. Accordingly, each prospective Investor is urged to consult with its own legal counsel before investing in the Company. Finally, in advising as to matters of law (including matters of law described in these disclosures), legal counsel has relied, and will rely, upon representations of fact made by the Company and other persons in these disclosures and other documents. Such advice may be materially inaccurate or incomplete if any such representations are themselves inaccurate or incomplete, and legal counsel generally will not undertake independent investigation with regard to such representations.

We may face potential difficulties in obtaining capital.

We may have difficulty raising needed capital in the future as a result of, among other factors, our lack of an approved product and revenues from sales, as well as the inherent business risks associated with our company and present and future market conditions. Our business currently does not generate any sales and future sources of revenue may not be sufficient to meet our future capital requirements. We will require additional funds to execute our business strategy and conduct our operations. If adequate funds are unavailable, we may be required to delay, reduce the scope of or eliminate one or more of our research, development or commercialization programs, product launches or marketing efforts, any of which may materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In order for the Company to compete and grow, it must attract, recruit, retain and develop the necessary personnel who have the needed experience.

Recruiting and retaining highly qualified personnel is critical to our success. These demands may require us to hire additional personnel and will require our existing management personnel to develop additional expertise. We face intense competition for personnel. The failure to attract and retain personnel or to develop such expertise could delay or halt the development and commercialization of our product candidates. If we experience difficulties in hiring and retaining personnel in key positions, we could suffer from delays in product development, loss of customers and sales and diversion of management resources, which could adversely affect operating results. Our consultants and advisors may be employed by third parties and may have commitments under consulting or advisory contracts with third parties that may limit their availability to us.

The development and commercialization of our Platform is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to any products that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Our competitors include major companies worldwide. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our Platform achieve initial market acceptance and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

We rely on other companies to provide subsystems for our Platform.

We depend on these suppliers and subcontractors to meet our contractual obligations to our customers and conduct our operations. Our ability to meet our obligations to our customers may be adversely affected if suppliers or subcontractors do not provide the agreed-upon supplies or perform the agreed-upon services in compliance with customer requirements and in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of our products may be adversely impacted if companies to whom we delegate subsystems for our products, or from whom we acquire such items, do not provide the subsystem/s which meet required specifications and perform to our and our customers' expectations. Our suppliers may be less likely than us to be able to quickly recover from natural disasters and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two subcontractors or suppliers for a particular subsystem.

We depend on third party providers, suppliers and licensors to supply some of the hardware, software and operational support necessary to provide some of our services.

We obtain these materials from a limited number of vendors, some of which do not have a long operating history, or which may not be able to continue to supply the equipment and services we desire. Some of our hardware, software and operational support vendors represent our sole source of supply or have, either through contract or as a result of intellectual property rights, a position of some exclusivity. If demand exceeds these vendors' capacity or if these vendors experience operating or financial difficulties or are otherwise unable to provide the equipment or services we need in a timely manner, at our specifications and at reasonable prices, our ability to provide some services might be materially adversely affected, or the need to procure or develop alternative sources of the affected materials or services might delay our ability to serve our customers. These events could materially and adversely affect our ability to retain and attract customers, and have a material negative impact on our operations, business, financial results and financial condition.

Quality management plays an essential role in determining and meeting customer requirements, preventing defects, improving the Company's products and services and maintaining the integrity of the data that supports the safety and efficacy of our products.

Our future success depends on our ability to maintain and continuously improve our quality management program. An inability to address a quality or safety issue in an effective and timely manner may also cause negative publicity, a loss of customer confidence in us or our current or future products, which may result in the loss of sales and difficulty in successfully launching new products. In addition, a successful claim brought against us in excess of available insurance or not covered by indemnification agreements, or any claim that results in significant adverse publicity against us, could have an adverse effect on our business and our reputation.

The use of individually identifiable data by our business, our business associates and third parties is regulated at the state and federal level.

Costs associated with information security – such as investment in technology, the costs of compliance with consumer protection laws and costs resulting from consumer fraud – could cause our business and results of operations to suffer materially. Additionally, the success of our online operations depends upon the secure transmission of confidential information over public networks, including the use of cashless payments. The intentional or negligent actions of employees, business associates or third parties may undermine our security measures. As a result, unauthorized parties may obtain access to our data systems and misappropriate confidential data. There can be no assurance that advances in computer capabilities, new discoveries in the field of cryptography or other developments will prevent the compromise of our customer transaction processing capabilities and personal data. If any such compromise of our security or the security of information residing with our business associates or third parties were to occur, it could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, operating results and financial condition. Any compromise of our data security may materially increase the costs we incur to protect against such breaches and could subject us to additional legal risk.

Through our operations, we collect and store certain personal information that our customers provide to purchase products or services, enroll in promotional programs, register on our web site, or otherwise communicate and interact with us.

We may share information about such persons with vendors that assist with certain aspects of our business. Security could be compromised and confidential customer or business information misappropriated. Loss of customer or business information could disrupt our operations, damage our reputation, and expose us to claims from customers, financial institutions, payment card associations and other persons, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, compliance with tougher privacy and information security laws and standards may result in significant expense due to increased investment in technology and the development of new operational processes.

Security breaches and other disruptions could compromise our information and expose us to liability, which would cause our business and reputation to suffer.

We collect and store sensitive data, including intellectual property, proprietary business information of customers, suppliers and business partners, as well as personally identifiable information of our customers and employees in our data centers and network. The secure processing, storage and transmission of this data is critical to our operations and business strategy and so, we devote significant resources to maintain the confidentiality and integrity of all data kept within our network through utilization of several technical systems and strict adherence to company policy. The expenses associated with protecting our customer data could reduce our operating margins but the importance of trust in our capacity to provide a secure operating environment is paramount.

Despite measures taken to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of data and resources, our network may be vulnerable to disruption due to employee error, environmental hazard, or malfeasance. Any such event could compromise our networks and the data stored therein could potentially be accessed, publicly disclosed, lost or stolen. Such breaches in confidentiality or integrity could result in legal claims or proceedings, liability under laws that protect the privacy of personal information and regulatory penalties, not to mention, disrupt our operations and the services we provide to our customers, damage our reputation, and instigate a loss of confidence in our products and services which would adversely affect our business/operating margins, revenues and competitive position.

An intentional or unintentional disruption, failure, misappropriation or corruption of our network and information systems could severely affect our business.

Such an event might be caused by computer hacking, computer viruses, worms and other destructive or disruptive software, “cyber attacks” and other malicious activity, as well as natural disasters, power outages, terrorist attacks and similar events. Such events could have an adverse impact on us and our customers, including degradation of service, service disruption, excessive call volume to call centers and damage to our plant, equipment and data. In addition, our future results could be adversely affected due to the theft, destruction, loss, misappropriation or release of confidential customer data or intellectual property. Operational or business delays may result from the disruption of network or information systems and the subsequent remediation activities. Moreover, these events may create negative publicity resulting in reputation or brand damage with customers.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including licenses in order to operate our business.

Such intellectual property rights, however, may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented or designed-around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position and results of operations. We also rely on nondisclosure and noncompetition agreements with employees, consultants and other parties to protect, in part, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights.

As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

From time to time, third parties may claim that one or more of our products or services infringe their intellectual property rights.

Any dispute or litigation regarding patents or other intellectual property could be costly and time-consuming due to the complexity of our technology and the uncertainty of intellectual property litigation and could divert our management and key personnel from our business operations. A claim of intellectual property infringement could force us to enter into a costly or restrictive license agreement, which might not be available under acceptable terms or at all, could require us to redesign our products, which would be costly and time-consuming, and/or could subject us to an injunction against development and sale of certain of our products or services. We may have to pay substantial damages, including damages for past infringement if it is ultimately determined that our products infringe on a third party's proprietary rights. Even if these claims are without merit, defending a lawsuit takes significant time, may be expensive and may divert management's attention from other business concerns. Any public announcements related to litigation or interference proceedings initiated or threatened against us could cause our business to be harmed. Our intellectual property portfolio may not be useful in asserting a counterclaim, or negotiating a license, in response to a claim of intellectual property infringement. In certain of our businesses we rely on third party intellectual property licenses and we cannot ensure that these licenses will be available to us in the future on favorable terms or at all.

The Company intends to use the proceeds from the Offering for unspecified working capital.

This means that the Company has ultimate discretion to use the proceeds as it sees fit and has chosen not to set forth any specific uses for you to evaluate. The net proceeds from this Offering will be used for the purposes, which our management deems to be in our best interests in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. As a result of the foregoing, our success will be substantially dependent upon our discretion and judgment with respect to application and allocation of the net proceeds of this Offering. The Company may choose to use the proceeds in a manner that you do not agree with and you will have no recourse. A use of proceeds that does not further the Company's business and goals could harm the Company and its operations and ultimately cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of its investment.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people.

The Company is dependent on Jessica Clarke, Albert Wagner, James Murray, and Kevin Ference in order to conduct its operations and execute its business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of Jessica Clarke, Albert Wagner, James Murray, and Kevin Ference die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and its operations.

The Company has indicated that it has engaged in certain transactions with related persons.

Please see the section of this Offering entitled "TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PERSONS AND CONFLICTS OF INTEREST" for further details.

Changes in employment laws or regulation could harm our performance.

Various federal and state labor laws govern our relationship with our employees and affect operating costs. These laws include minimum wage requirements, overtime pay, healthcare reform and the implementation of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, unemployment tax rates, workers' compensation rates, citizenship requirements, union membership and sales taxes. A number of factors could adversely affect our operating results, including additional government-imposed increases in minimum wages, overtime pay, paid leaves of absence and mandated health benefits, mandated training for employees, increased tax reporting and tax payment, changing regulations from the National Labor Relations Board and increased employee litigation including claims relating to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The Securities do not accrue interest or otherwise compensate Investors for the period in which the Company uses proceeds from the Offering.

The Securities will accrue no interest and have no maturity date. Therefore, Investors will not be compensated for the time in which the Company uses the proceeds from the Offering before a possible Equity Financing or Liquidity Event that could result in the conversion of the Security, to the benefit of the Investor.

We operate in a regulated environment, and if we are found to be in violation of any of the federal, state, or local laws or regulations applicable to us, our business could suffer.

We are also subject to a wide range of federal, state, and local laws and regulations, such as local licensing requirements, and retail financing, debt collection, consumer protection, environmental, health and safety, creditor, wage-hour, anti-discrimination, whistleblower and other employment practices laws and regulations and we expect these costs to increase going forward. The violation of these or future requirements or laws and regulations could result in administrative, civil, or criminal sanctions against us, which may include fines, a cease and desist order against the subject operations or even revocation or suspension of our license to operate the subject business. As a result, we have incurred and will continue to incur capital and operating expenditures and other costs to comply with these requirements and laws and regulations.

The collection, processing, storage, use and disclosure of personal data could give rise to liabilities as a result of governmental regulation, conflicting legal requirements or differing views of personal privacy rights.

We receive, collect, process, transmit, store and use a large volume of personally identifiable information and other sensitive data from customers and potential customers. There are federal, state and foreign laws regarding privacy, recording telephone calls and the storing, sharing, use, disclosure and protection of personally identifiable information and sensitive data. Specifically, personally identifiable information is increasingly subject to legislation and regulations to protect the privacy of personal information that is collected, processed and transmitted. Any violations of these laws and regulations may require us to change our business practices or operational structure, address legal claims and sustain monetary penalties and/or other harms to our business.

The regulatory framework for privacy issues in the United States and internationally is constantly evolving and is likely to remain uncertain for the foreseeable future. The interpretation and application of such laws is often uncertain, and such laws may be interpreted and applied in a manner inconsistent with our current policies and practices or require changes to the features of our platform. If either we or our third party service providers are unable to address any privacy concerns, even if unfounded, or to comply with applicable laws and regulations, it could result in additional costs and liability, damage our reputation and harm our business.

Negative public opinion could damage our reputation and adversely affect our business.

Reputation risk, or the risk to our business from negative public opinion, is inherent in our business. Negative public opinion can result from media coverage, whether accurate or not. Negative public opinion can adversely affect our ability to attract and retain customers and employees and can expose us to litigation and regulatory action.

Our business and operating results may be impacted by adverse economic conditions.

General economic factors and conditions in the United States or worldwide, including the general interest rate environment, unemployment rates and residential home values, may affect borrower willingness to seek loans and investor ability and desire to invest in loans. For example, during the 2008 financial crisis, banks severely constrained lending activities, which caused a decline in loan issuances. A similar crisis could negatively impact the willingness of investors and borrowers to participate on our marketplace. Although the U.S. and global economies have shown improvement, the recovery remains modest and uncertain. If present U.S. and global economic uncertainties persist, many of our investors may delay or reduce their investment in the loans facilitated through our marketplace. Adverse economic conditions could also reduce the number of individuals seeking to invest in loans facilitated on our marketplace, reduce the number of qualified borrowers seeking loans on our marketplace and result in borrowers being unable to make payments. Should any of these situations occur, our revenue and transactions on our marketplace would decline and our business would be negatively impacted.

Our operating results may fluctuate due to factors that are difficult to forecast and not within our control.

Our past operating results may not be accurate indicators of future performance, and you should not rely on such results to predict our future performance. Our operating results have fluctuated significantly in the past, and could fluctuate in the future. Factors that may contribute to fluctuations include:

- * changes in aggregate capital spending, cyclicity and other economic conditions, or domestic and international demand in the industries we serve;

- * our ability to effectively manage our working capital;
- * our ability to satisfy consumer demands in a timely and cost-effective manner;
- * pricing and availability of labor and materials;
- * our inability to adjust certain fixed costs and expenses for changes in demand;
- * shifts in geographic concentration of customers, supplies and labor pools; and
- * seasonal fluctuations in demand and our revenue.

Our ability to sell subscriptions to our Platform is dependent on the quality of our technical support services, and our failure to offer high quality technical support services would have a material adverse effect on our sales and results of operations.

Once our products are deployed within our end-customers' operations, end-customers depend on our technical support services to resolve any issues relating to the Platform. If we do not effectively assist our customers in utilizing the Platform, succeed in helping our customers quickly resolve issues, and provide effective ongoing support, our ability to renew subscriptions with existing customers would be adversely affected and our reputation with potential customers could be damaged. As a result, our failure to maintain high quality support services would have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

The Company could be negatively impacted if found to have infringed on intellectual property rights.

Technology companies, including many of the Company's competitors, frequently enter into litigation based on allegations of patent infringement or other violations of intellectual property rights. In addition, patent holding companies seek to monetize patents they have purchased or otherwise obtained. As the Company grows, the intellectual property rights claims against it will likely increase. The plaintiffs in these actions frequently seek injunctions and substantial damages. Regardless of the scope or validity of such patents or other intellectual property rights, or the merits of any claims by potential or actual litigants, the Company may have to engage in protracted litigation. If the Company is found to infringe one or more patents or other intellectual property rights, regardless of whether it can develop non-infringing technology, it may be required to pay substantial damages or royalties to a third-party, or it may be subject to a temporary or permanent injunction prohibiting the Company from marketing or selling certain products, including the Platform. In certain cases, the Company may consider the desirability of entering into licensing agreements, although no assurance can be given that such licenses can be obtained on acceptable terms or that litigation will not occur. These licenses may also significantly increase the Company's operating expenses.

Regardless of the merit of particular claims, litigation may be expensive, time-consuming, disruptive to the Company's operations and distracting to management. In recognition of these considerations, the Company may enter into arrangements to settle litigation. If one or more legal matters were resolved against the Company's consolidated financial statements for that reporting period could be materially adversely affected. Further, such an outcome could result in significant compensatory, punitive or trebled monetary damages, disgorgement of revenue or profits, remedial corporate measures or injunctive relief against the Company that could adversely affect its financial condition and results of operations.

We rely heavily on our technology and intellectual property, but we may be unable to adequately or cost-effectively protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, thereby weakening our competitive position and increasing operating costs.

To protect our rights in the Platform, we rely on a combination of copyright and trademark laws, trade secrets, confidentiality agreements with employees and third parties, and protective contractual provisions. We also rely on laws pertaining to trademarks and domain names to protect the value of our brand and reputation. Despite our efforts to protect our proprietary rights, unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our Platform or features thereof, obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary, or otherwise violate or infringe our intellectual property rights. In addition, it is possible that others could independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property. If we do not effectively protect our intellectual property, or if others independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property, our competitive position could be weakened.

Effectively policing the unauthorized use of our Platform is and will be time-consuming and costly, and the steps taken by us may not prevent misappropriation of our technology or other proprietary assets. The efforts we have taken to protect our proprietary rights may not be sufficient or effective, and unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our Platform, use similar marks or domain names, or obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary. We may have to litigate to enforce our intellectual property rights, to protect our trade secrets, or to determine the validity and scope of others' proprietary rights, which are sometimes not clear or may change. Litigation can be time consuming and expensive, and the outcome can be difficult to predict.

We rely on agreements with third parties to provide certain services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights necessary to enable us to implement some of our applications.

Our ability to implement and provide our applications and services to our customers depends, in part, on services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights owned or controlled by third parties. These third parties may become unable to or refuse to continue to provide these services, goods, technology, or intellectual property rights on commercially reasonable terms consistent with our business practices, or otherwise discontinue a service important for us to continue to operate our applications. If we fail to replace these services, goods, technologies, or intellectual property rights in a timely manner or on commercially reasonable terms, our operating results and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, we exercise limited control over our third-party vendors, which increases our vulnerability to problems with technology and services those vendors provide. If the services, technology, or intellectual property of third parties were to fail to perform as expected, it could subject us to potential liability, adversely affect our renewal rates, and have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

We must acquire or develop new features, evolve existing ones, address any defects or errors, and adapt to technology change.

Technical developments, customer requirements, programming languages, and industry standards change frequently in our markets. As a result, success in current markets and new markets will depend upon our ability to enhance current products, address any product defects or errors, acquire or develop and introduce new products that meet client needs, keep pace with technology changes, respond to competitive products, and achieve market acceptance. Product development requires substantial investments for research, refinement, and testing. We may not have sufficient resources to make necessary product development investments. We may experience technical or other difficulties that will delay or prevent the successful development, introduction, or implementation of new or enhanced products. We may also experience technical or other difficulties in the integration of acquired technologies into our existing platform and applications. Inability to introduce or implement new or enhanced products in a timely manner could result in loss of market share if competitors are able to provide solutions to meet customer needs before we do, give rise to unanticipated expenses related to further development or modification of acquired technologies as a result of integration issues, and adversely affect future performance.

Industry consolidation may result in increased competition, which could result in a loss of customers or a reduction in revenue.

Some of our competitors have made or may make acquisitions or may enter into partnerships or other strategic relationships to offer more comprehensive services than they individually had offered or achieve greater economies of scale. In addition, new entrants not currently considered to be competitors may enter our market through acquisitions, partnerships or strategic relationships. We expect these trends to continue as companies attempt to strengthen or maintain their market positions. The potential entrants may have competitive advantages over us, such as greater name recognition, longer operating histories, more varied services and larger marketing budgets, as well as greater financial, technical and other resources. The companies resulting from combinations or that expand or vertically integrate their business to include the market that we address may create more compelling service offerings and may offer greater pricing flexibility than we can or may engage in business practices that make it more difficult for us to compete effectively, including on the basis of price, sales and marketing programs, technology or service functionality. These pressures could result in a substantial loss of our customers or a reduction in our revenue.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including “bugs” and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

If we do not respond to technological changes or upgrade our websites and technology systems, our growth prospects and results of operations could be adversely affected.

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the functionality and features of our websites and technology infrastructure. As a result, we will need to continue to improve and expand our hosting and network infrastructure and related software capabilities. These improvements may require greater levels of spending than we have experienced in the past. Without such improvements, our operations might suffer from unanticipated system disruptions, slow application performance or unreliable service levels, any of which could negatively affect our reputation and ability to attract and retain customers and contributors. Furthermore, in order to continue to attract and retain new customers, we are likely to incur expenses in connection with continuously updating and improving our user interface and experience. We may face significant delays in introducing new services, products and enhancements. If competitors introduce new products and services using new technologies or if new industry standards and practices emerge, our existing websites and our proprietary technology and systems may become obsolete or less competitive, and our business may be harmed. In addition, the expansion and improvement of our systems and infrastructure may require us to commit substantial financial, operational and technical resources, with no assurance that our business will improve.

Risks Related to the Securities

A portion of the proceeds from the Offering will be used to repay existing obligations of the Company.

These proceeds will not be available for the ongoing operations of the Company but will instead be paid to existing amounts due to creditors.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own 85.0% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Florida law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the appointment or election of managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Minimum Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. Your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

Investors will not become equity holders until the Company decides to convert the Securities into Class C Shares or until an IPO or sale of the Company.

Investors will not have an ownership claim to the Company or to any of its assets or revenues for an indefinite amount of time, and depending on when and how the Securities are converted, the Investors may never become equity holders of the Company. Investors will not become equity holders of the Company unless the Company receives a future round of financing great enough to trigger a conversion and the Company elects to convert the Securities. The Company is under no obligation to convert the Securities into Class C Shares (as such term is defined in the Operating Agreement) (the type of equity Securities the Investors are entitled to receive upon such conversion). In certain instances, such as a sale of the Company, an IPO or a dissolution or bankruptcy, the Investors may only have a right to receive cash, to the extent available, rather than equity in the Company.

Investors will not have voting rights, even upon conversion of the Securities into Class C Shares.

Investors will not have the right to vote upon matters of the Company even if and when their Securities are converted into Class C Shares. Upon such conversion, Class C Shares will have no voting rights and even in circumstances where a statutory right to vote is provided by state law, the Class C holders are required to vote with the majority of the security holders in the new round of equity financing upon which the Securities were converted. Thus, Investors will never be able to freely vote upon any director or other matters of the Company.

No Inspection or Information Rights.

Investors will not have the right to inspect the books and records of the Company or to receive financial or other information from the Company, other than as required by Regulation CF. Other security holders may have such rights. Regulation CF requires only the provision of an annual report on Form C-AR and no additional information. This lack of information could put Investors at a disadvantage in general and with respect to other security holders.

In a dissolution or bankruptcy of the Company, Investors will receive a pro rata portion of the proceeds.

In a dissolution or bankruptcy of the Company, Investors of Securities which have not been converted will be entitled (subject to the liquidation priority) to receive the greater of (i) the Purchase Amount or (ii) the amount payable on the number of shares of Common Shares equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the Liquidity Price (the “Cash-Out Amount”). In a Dissolution Event, the Investor’s right to receive the above described amount is junior to payment of outstanding indebtedness and creditor claims and is on par with payments for Common Shares and other Securities who are receiving Proceeds on a similar basis. Accordingly, there is no guarantee that upon the occurrence of a Dissolution Event that Investor will receive the Cash-Out Amount or a return of the initial Purchase Amount. If the Securities have been converted into Class C Shares, the Investors will have the same rights and preferences (other than the ability to vote) as the holders of the Securities issued in the equity financing upon which the Securities were converted.

Investors will be unable to declare the Security in “default” and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any “default” provisions upon which the Investors will be able to demand repayment of their investment. The Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and Investors have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may the Investors demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Investors could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company’s assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

Determination of Valuation Cap

The valuation cap incorporated in the Securities has been internally determined and bears no specific relationship to any established criteria of value such as book value or earnings, or any combination thereof. No valuation or appraisal of the Company's potential business has been prepared.

The Securities do not have a discount rate.

The Securities do not have a discount rate, which would be applied to the conversion price of the Securities based on the price of a future equity financing. Convertible securities often provide a discount rate, which is applied to the price of the future financing to determine the conversion price. For instance, if the future equity financing were priced at $10 per share, convertible securities that incorporated a discount rate might be convertible at $8 per share. Such discount rate benefits the convertible security holders, who receive more securities from the conversion than the purchase price of their convertible securities would suggest. The Securities do not have a discount rate and thus, will be convertible at the price established by the future equity financing regardless of the price of such future securities or the future valuation of the Company.

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors and Members of

Wholesale Payroll LLC

886 Park Ave, Ste 202

Marco Island, FL 34145

REPORT ON FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

I have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Wholesale Payroll, LLC as of December 31, 2021 and 2022 and the related statements of operations, changes in owner's equity and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management.

MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal controls relevant to the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITY

My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audits. I conducted my audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards as accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit includes performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of risks of material misstatements of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal controls relevant to the Company's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal controls. Accordingly, I express no such opinion.

An audit also includes evaluating appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. Examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements is also executed.

An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my audit opinion.

OPINION

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Wholesale Payroll, LLC as of December 31, 2021 and 2022 and the results of operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

EMPHASIS OF MATTER

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the company will continue as going concern. As discussed in note 2, the Company has incurred cumulative net losses of $152,588 and negative cash flow from operations since incorporation. This raises substantial doubt about the company's ability to continue operations. Management's plan is also explained in note 2. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Notes to the Financial Statements

As of December 31, 2021 & 2022

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Wholesale Payroll, LLC was established in Florida as an LLC on July 15th, 2021. The company has developed a wholesale, white-labeled payroll software tool that equips their customers, known as payroll partners, with unprecedented ability to manage their portfolio of employer clients.

The Wholesale Payroll, LLC software mission is to reinvent how the modern world views payroll. Unshackled by restrictions competitors impose, Wholesale Payroll, LLC’s users will experience new possibilities when it comes to managing their businesses.

NOTE 2 – BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND GOING CONCERN

Basis of Presentation

The Company has earned insignificant revenues from limited primary operations. Accordingly, the Company’s activities have been accounted for as those of a “Development Stage Enterprise” as set forth in Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 7 (“SFAS 7”). One of the disclosures required by SFAS 7 is that the Company’s financial statements be identified as those of a development stage company, and that the statements of operations, members equity, and cash flows disclose activity since the date of the Company’s inception.

Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Going Concern

The company is a start-up and funding its operational expenses from financing activities. The Company has incurred cumulative net losses of $(152,588) and negative cash flow from operations since incorporation. Management believes that its go-to-market strategy and subscription-based model will result in the Company transitioning to generating positive cash flows from operations.

Management’s plans include raising additional equity financing. However, there can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in obtaining sufficient equity financing on acceptable terms, if at all.

Failure to generate sufficient revenues, achieve planned gross margins, control operating costs, or raise sufficient additional financing may require the Company to modify, delay or abandon some of its planned future expenditures, which could have material adverse effect on the company’s business, operating results, financial condition, and ability to achieve its intended business objectives. These circumstances raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as going concern for a reasonable period of time.

NOTE 3 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Management evaluates the estimates and assumptions based on historical experience and believes that those estimates and assumptions are reasonable based upon information available to them.

Cash

The Company deposits its cash with financial institutions that Management believes are of high credit quality. The Company's cash consists primarily of cash deposited in U.S. dollar denominated demand-deposit accounts.

Accounts Receivables and Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

Accounts receivables are stated at Net Realizable Value (NRV). On a periodic basis, management evaluates its accounts receivable and determines whether to provide an allowance or if any accounts should be written off based on a past history of write offs, collections, and current credit conditions. A receivable is considered past due if the company has not received payments based on agreed-upon terms. The company generally does not require any security or collateral to support its receivables.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, control has been transferred, the fee is fixed or determinable, and collectability is reasonably assured. In instances where final acceptance of the product is specified by the customer, revenue is deferred until all acceptance criteria have been met. The Company's primary source of revenue is the subscription fee.

The Company applies the following five steps in order to determine the appropriate amount of revenue to be recognized as it fulfills its obligations under each of its arrangements:

- Identify the contract with a customer.
- Identify the performance obligations in the contract.
- Determine the transaction price.
- Allocate the transaction price to performance obligations in the contract, and
- Recognize revenue as the performance obligation is satisfied.

NOTE 4 – DEVELOPMENT OF WHOLESALE PAYROLL’S SOFTWARE

The company has developed a web-based tool which is the major revenue generating operating activity. The percentage of completion of the software was around 90% as of December 31, 2022, and is under final testing as of the date of this report. The company has invested $944,253 in developing this tool, and the major expenditures were paid as Payroll costs for developers and contractors, legal expenses and some other vendor payments, while management expects the life of the software to be more than 10 years, they will use a 5-year life for amortization purposes.

NOTE 5 – CUSTOMER DEPOSITS

The company has received some advances for future subscriptions, (deposits) to the Company’s software. These deposits do not meet revenue recognition criteria therefore, deposits are reported as a refundable liability to the customer.

NOTE 6 – OWNERS CONTRIBUTIONS

The Company issued two classes of Membership Units: Class A Units and Class B Units. The Board authorized the issuance of up to 10,000 of Class A Units which have voting rights and up to 2,000 Class B Units which have no voting rights.

As of December 31, 2022, the company has issued an outstanding: 8,500 of Class A Units; and 1,500 of Class B Units.

I have been researching payroll software all year and what I found is that Literally all of them are mocks of QuickBooks basically besides the ADP and the paychecks. The big the big players. Almost all of them are just just mirror images of what Intuit is, there's no creative thinking out there. This was definitely something that I was looking for, gave me the tools that I wanted.
